

Facilities for students with disabilities:

Services provided to people with special needs at Ashur University:

Ashur University aims to provide services to people with special needs, besides contributing to community awareness of accepting a person with special needs at the university. In addition to providing all the supplies that will help him complete his studies, preserving and defending the basic rights of people with special needs, and alleviating their suffering, through a system of programs, services, and activities. Specific initiatives, rehabilitation, social and health services. The university seeks to enable people with special needs to improve the quality of their social and academic lives.

These facilities can be explained to improve the quality of their social life as follows:

- Providing parking spaces for their cars or wheelchairs near the main buildings.
- Providing ramps that facilitate their movement between buildings and at their entrances.
- The university is equipped with eight elevators in each of its buildings.
- Integrating them into social life by facilitating their entry and movement in the university's sports buildings and swimming pool.
- All entrances open in the direction of movement, and this helps them in their movement.
- Providing corridors with appropriate dimensions and measurements for their movement.
- Organizing seminars, training workshops, and educational lectures that train and develop the abilities and capabilities of students with special needs and introduce them to them, delivered by professors specialized in human medicine and social psychology.
- Providing them with the opportunity to practice games and sports activities through the services provided by the sports club building and the swimming pool.
- Organizing sports competitions to compete among themselves and to facilitate their integration into the student community.

As for the facilities to improve the quality of their academic and educational lives, they can be summarized as follows:

- Providing publications and brochures that increase the level of psychological awareness for this group.
- Adapt the time and nature of the tests to suit their health condition.
- Supporting their educational level through additional lectures and supporting workshops.
- Providing health and medical services for people with special needs, through specialized medical clinics within the university in addition to the university teaching hospital.

